Presenters

Wendy Carlish is a neonatal nurse with over 25 years experience, the last five of these in a management position. Working in a regional centre, her focus is providing a high standard of care to neonates of varying acuity; and to build and maintain a nursing workforce that meets the needs of the demographic. She is an active member of the Leadership SIG.

Anndrea Flint is a Neonatal Nurse Practitioner at Redcliffe Maternity Unit; endorsed as a Nurse Practitioner since 2016. Anndrea has worked in many roles in maternity and neonatal settings and this enables her to have a broad view of neonatal care. The scope of her current role includes, special care nursery, birth suite, maternity ward and outpatient activity. Anndrea's current research interests are IV cannulas in neonates, Neonatal Skin Care, Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome and Overnight oximetry in neonates.

Jane Langford, undertook her Bachelor of Nursing in Brisbane and entered the paediatric workforce. Following completion of midwifery training, she transitioned into neonatal nursing 17 years ago. Jane has spent much of her career travelling including the UK where she completed a Masters for Neonatal Nurse Practitioner. Jane has been at the Sunshine Coast for a number of years and is enjoying the challenges the NNP role presents.

Karen Hose, is a neonatal nurse practitioner working in Women's and Newborn Services, Royal Brisbane & Women's Hospital. Karen has been an endorsed Nurse Practitioner since 2015, and has played an integral role in establishing the NP position within the service.

Katharine Lawlor commenced her Neonatal Nursing career in South Africa and has worked in various neonatal units in Queensland since 2002. Currently Katharine Manages two regional neonatal units when not on secondment to an education role. She is undertaking her Master of Clinical Nursing (Specialisation) with a focus on healthcare education. This is in support of a passion for continuous practice development within our neonatal workforce now and into the future. Katharine is an ordinary member of the ACNN Leadership SIG.

Nicola Carlish is an Accredited Exercise Physiologist, who completed her degree at the University of Queensland in 2017. She currently practices at The Fit Lab Health and Fitness Centre as both a clinician and head of the Accredited Exercise Physiology Team. Nicola works with a variety of different health conditions, spanning from chronic illnesses to the disability sector. She aims to assist people to find their “why” for movement, and create an enjoyable environment for exercise to be completed in.
