

Nutrition & Feeding

Special Interest Group

By facilitating opportunities for networking, education, peer support and guidance, the Nutrition & feeding SIG strives to disseminate consistent and evidenced based information for optimising feeding outcomes in all Australian neonatal units.

Our focus is to provide a forum for neonatal nurses to come together with a focus on supporting nutrition and feeding in neonatal units.

Our benefits

- ✓ Networking
- ✓ Conference sessions
- ✓ Online education
- ✓ Peer practice Q&A sessions
- ✓ Access to scholarships
- ✓ Online Resources

Join us

Membership is open to current financial members of the ACNN who are interested in neonatal nutrition and feeding. Contact us for more information about the SIG.

nutritionsig@acnn.org.au

Scan the QR code or email us to learn more